

HIGH PERFORMANCE IGNITION COILS FOR ALL APPLICATIONS

The demand for more specialized coils has forced MOTORTECH to design and manufacture its own ignition coil product lines. From standard EPOXY molded coils to shell type high energy coils and very special shielded and CSA certified versions, there is a wide variety of coils "Made in Europe" available through the global product distribution network.

Lean burn gas engines, high voltage measuring (ASC – Auto Spark Control) or indicating systems (spark reference system™) – all require very special coil characteristics. Not only the design but also the manufacturing processes are important. Today, MOTORTECH coils are manufactured in a semi automated process under vacuum and together with modern high speed winding equipment it ensures that one coil is like the other.

Designed for the toughest applications and built to last.
